A Message From Our Founder

Experimentation with drugs and alcohol is one of the most dangerous things that we can do to our bodies. This includes taking medicines not prescribed to us or using prescribed medicines in unsafe ways. Additionally, we can cause harm to our bodies when using over the counter products not meant for our age group.

Everyone's bodies are unique and respond differently to these chemicals. Keep track of your prescription medication and speak to a doctor or medical professional before consuming new prescriptions. Take control of your body and encourage others to do the same.

In this activity book, you will explore your own ideas related to drugs and alcohol and how they can impact your health and your behaviors.

Crisis lines are always available at TextPledge.us

Happy Learning!
